Enhanced Game Behavior!-NEW: Screen Support for Modern Devices-NEW: Support for 22 languages-64 Bit Compatible Great games to play if you have a few minutes to play or while you're waiting for someone. Gave it 4 stars because the update didn't really add anything except iOS compatibility. If you add a free kick mode where you can put the ball anywhere on the field (yes even 100 yards out), then I would give a 5 star! Heck, I'd even pay a dollar or two for that option. Especially if it got rid of the additions! Well my first question is I guess my fault for being late to the party but there is no online to play with meaning I can not play it it Feature. The main error is there really isn't anything almost like free kick mode and yes I know there's a practice mode but I'd like a practice mode that kept track of your stats and shows you how to kick from far like 30+. 40+ and so on. Also one last complaint. Why am I literally kicking off the sideline? Where in football would you ever kick from the sideline? I don't know that doesn't really make sense to me and it's pretty annoying. Overall, I do the thing it's a fun game and a nice time passer. Haven't had problems with ads that some people complain about but maybe I'm lucky in that regard? great game I would just fix a few things. First of all, this game is very good. It does very well with its physics, game modes, and controls. And I'm very glad y'all came back to the game to optimize it for newer phones. One problem though; it kinda messed up the game. First of all, the stroke that pops up when you swipe no longer appears until after you kick it. Field goals longer than 45 yards are extremely difficult to make because they always come up short. If you can fix these two issues with the game then I will fall back in love with it. Thanks.
